

Canada 150 Research Chairs

Communications program, Glendon College, York University.

Glendon College, York University, invites applications from individuals interested in nomination for a Canada 150 Research Chair in Media, Datafication and Governance, to commence July 1, 2018. Glendon is a bilingual liberal arts college and a faculty of York University. Applicants must be able to work in English and French.

The position is a tenure stream appointment at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor conditional on the successful nomination of the applicant as a Canada 150 Research Chair. To be eligible for this award, nominees must be internationally based at the time of the application (both working and residing outside of Canada), including Canadian expatriates.

The individual sought will be nominated for a Canada 150 Research Chairs at the $350,000 per year level. Appointments to Canada 150 Chairs are for 7 years and are accompanied by a full-time tenure-stream faculty position. Further information about the Canada 150 Research Chair program is available at <http://www.canada150.chairs-chaires.gc.ca>.

The successful candidate will have a record of excellence in scholarly research including publications appropriate to their stage of career, and will demonstrate a commitment to excellence in teaching at all levels. The successful candidate will be prepared to participate actively in one or more Glendon departments and be suitable for prompt appointment to the Faculty of Graduate Studies. Following the 7 year research chair period, the successful candidate will join the Communications Program of Glendon's School of Translation.

For this nomination, York is particularly interested in candidates with diverse backgrounds and especially encourages candidates in equity, diversity and inclusion categories. York acknowledges the potential impact that career interruptions can have on a candidate's record of research achievement and encourages applicants to explain in their application the impact that career interruptions may have had on their record of research achievement. York University is an Affirmative Action (AA) employer and strongly values diversity, including gender and sexual diversity, within its community. The AA program, which applies to Aboriginal people, visible minorities, people with disabilities, and women, can be found at www.yorku.ca/acadjobs or by calling the AA office at 416-736-5713. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens and permanent residents will be given priority.

The institutional commitment to ensuring that the opportunities of the award will be made available to individuals from the four designated groups (women, members of visible minorities, Aboriginal Peoples, and persons with disabilities), including:

- quality of the recruitment and outreach strategy in terms of demonstrated commitment to equity, diversity and inclusion; and
- quality and extent of the institution's commitment to ensuring that the opportunities of the chairholder's research program will be made available to individuals from the four designated groups.

Applicants should submit a signed letter of application outlining their professional experience and research interests, an up-to-date curriculum vitae, a sample of their scholarly writing (maximum 50 pp.), and a teaching dossier, and arrange for three confidential letters of recommendation to be sent to: Professor Dominique Scheffel-Dundand, Associate Principal, Research & Graduate Studies, Glendon Hall 100, • 2275 Bayview Avenue, Toronto ON • Canada M4N 3M6, APRGS@glendon.yorku.ca - (Subject line: "Media/Datafication/Governance").

The deadline for applications is July 26, 2017. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. All York University positions are subject to budgetary approval. Our apologies for the tight deadline.
